

“LATELY”

INSPIRED BY ORIGINAL SONG BY TYRESE

LYRICS BY THE SYMBOL

Chorus:

Lately

Have I told you I love you?

Lately

Have I told you you still mean the world to me?

Lately

Have I told you I love you?

I pray don't wish no more

have hope in your love baby...

Verse 1:

I can't imagine life

Without you by my side

This is love baby not just feelings

I'm just hoping that you choose love the same way

Active choice in my mind

Spend time wine and dine

let's break bread baby

Under this candle light

You mean a lot to me

In so many ways

Chorus:

Have I told you I love you?

Lately

Have I told you you still mean the world to me?

Lately

Have I told you I love you?

I pray don't wish no more

have hope in your love baby...

Verse 2:

No superstitions,

I simply want a love infinite

Practice traditions

Transcending into the spirit

Drinking continuous from

The water that's living

And to think

We first met through the Internet

Hold up I know we have a lot of flaws

A lot tendencies that would lead us to be apart

Lots of things to confess but at essence of who we are

Is love that's divine

Let's simply look at the cross

I wanna sacrifice my life forever more lead you upon the promise we promised

Right from the start

'til we get to paradise eternal life of the heart purified from the stains that sin has left us from birth

Although we live in the City

Our love is State of the art

America land of the freedom to choose in love

If you only do you you and

I look out for me that's not

Freedom - enslaved to passions

I want the passion of God

This all started with one simple promise

And though time has gone by

Still that survives

Until Heaven