

“CATHEDRAL”

LYRICS BY THE SYMBOL

Heh... Cathedrals,
Everybody wants a mansion
I'm building Cathedrals
Call this Cathedral
Everyone's welcome here

Verse 1:

Come through and we'll feed you
With a daily dosage of the full truth
Chivalrous lyrics I'm spittin'
Some people think that these words
Here are medieval
In America now same sex unions legal
But that will never be a Sacrament
That and marriage aint equal
Some are gonna label me a bigot for this
That's ok I'm still peaceful
We don't have to agree dude
I'll still treat you like people
Despite your sins – despite my sins
God calls us to build Cathedral
Our bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit
I'm here to reveal what's within you
My uncle used to have a dog named Killer
That was a beagle
At 15 I worked for a law firm and the Head lawyer's name was Spiegel
Played ball after school in the backyard
Of my boy's house Tino
Stories of my life for God's people
All small parts of my Cathedral (yeah)

Chorus:

Cathedral

Cathedral
Everybody wants a mansion
I'm building Cathedrals
Call this Cathedral
Everyone's welcome here
We're all God's people

Verse 2:

Imminent intrinsic complementarity
Between P1 and P2
That's the equation, that's the basis
For the genetic model
What's that? – Metaphysics
I'm going over your head – yeah I get it
I'm just saying on every sentence on the record
There's a deeper message
A single termed absolute is a logical fallacy
We are relational beings – don't understand that
Then no sanctity
God made a covenant promise
In Hebrew that's family
I'm just tryna live out
Everything that God has for me
I think we can agree – this society
Isn't exactly where it ought to be
But gradually if we all believed
And committed to one true unity
I'm changing this world starting with me
My life's becoming a Cathedral
If I meet you, anything I could do I'll help build your Cathedral too

(Chorus)

St. Hugh of Lincoln... Pray for us
